From the (Acle) Rectory

Angels and dreams attend the birth of Jesus. His ministry is peppered with miracles and healings. But from the moment he enters Jerusalem on a donkey, the supernatural elements almost vanish from the story. Two Gospel-writers tell of a withering fig tree and a third of the replacement of the high priest's servant's ear at the arrest, but these are relatively incidental. More significant is the darkening of the sky when Jesus is on the cross: not a miracle as such, but a cosmic response to the rejection of him through whom all things came into being.

It's at Christmas that we celebrate the incarnation (the Word become flesh). The humanity of an infant is obvious; it's his divinity that Luke and Matthew take pains to stress. But come the Passion, it's the humanity of the Son of Man which is to the fore. We see Jesus' vulnerability: emotionally, wrestling with what is to come in the Garden of Gethsemane; and physically, as he suffers in the flesh. We see his anger in the temple; his respect for the woman who anoints him; and his concern and compassion for the weeping women, his mother, the penitent thief and, most remarkably, for those who have crucified him.

We also see the worst of our human nature in other characters: Judas' betrayal; Peter's denial; the fickleness of the crowd; the manipulation by the Jewish authorities; Pontius Pilate's moral deficiency.

This year we have the opportunity to experience the Passion in a very incarnational way: not through words on a page or read in church, but acted out by on the streets of Reedham. I'm sure it will be a powerful experience, not least for the actors. But even those who come to watch (and we hope you will) will probably find themselves caught up in the action, as the crowds were on that first Good Friday, as we walk with Jesus from scene to scene.

We may well find that we don't need miracles – not even the surpassing miracle of Easter, still two days away – to see the divine in this all-too human story of Christ's suffering and death.

In the love of God,

Martin Greenland

The Good Friday story, as told in Reedham, Norfolk

This year on April 14th, Good Friday, there will be an event which is unusual within Norfolk and unique in Reedham. A team of dedicated amateurs will be telling the Easter story of the days leading up to the death of Jesus Christ, a story well-known to Christians everywhere, but acted out in a dramatic way through the streets of our quiet village. Usually given as readings within churches, we have chosen to bring the sequence of events out into the community as a play, so that we can retell the story dramatically for everyone.

The day starts at 12 noon with refreshments at Reedham Village Hall, where there is ample free parking. We then walk, or, for those unable to walk, take a minibus to Reedham Primary School, where the action really begins at 1.30pm with Jesus' triumphant entry into Jerusalem. Subsequent scenes take place within walking distance, ending with the crucifixion in Ferry farmyard on Station Road. The play will be over by about 3pm, when we can walk or ride back to the Village Hall for teas and coffees.

Please come along. Everyone is welcome. There is no charge, but donations will be collected in aid of the East Anglian Air Ambulance.

We are grateful to the following who have sponsored the production costs of our Passion Play:

The Bishop's Fund

The Sharing Good News Fund

Plant and seed swap

Is anyone interested in joining an informal plant and seed swap in Reedham? I often have surplus cuttings etc in need of a home which I am happy to give to someone who wants them, but need to find a process whereby local people can be put in touch with each other. I thought of opening an internet group page where we could post offers/wanted of plants and garden stuff, and then arrange our own exchanges. If you are interested in joining in, please send me your email address and I will try to work out a way of doing it. To start you off, I have strawberry runners, Jerusalem artichoke roots, agapanthus, mint and rooted buddleia plants to get rid of. I would love some rhubarb if someone is splitting theirs (but it does not have to be a direct swap – my plants need a home, whatever).

Reedham Churchyard Conservation

Norfolk's churchyards are one of the few places in the county where we can still see, and walk amongst ancient grassland sites. Most of our meadows have been cultivated, fertilised or developed since the agricultural revolution - a process that sped up during and following the Second World War. In many parishes, the churchyard is the only remaining area of 'unimproved', species-rich grassland.

Norfolk has the highest number of churches in the UK, and our churchyards are therefore a very important wildlife habitat, providing stepping stones between other, larger, designated wildlife sites and in the local context providing the main refuge for a broad range of wildflowers. Other species often found in churchyards include invertebrates such as butterflies and bees; amphibians and reptiles including slow-worms and toads; a wide variety of birds; and small mammals such as voles and hedgehogs - and, of course, foraging bats.

The Norfolk Churchyard Conservation Scheme was established in 1981 and is run by the Norfolk Wildlife Trust in collaboration with the Diocese of Norwich. Nearly half of Norfolk's parish churches, including Reedham, are registered under the scheme, which aims to help churches manage their churchyards to protect the plant species of particular interest while observing the main requirements of the church.

In 2015 we started managing our churchyard for nature conservation and with the help of a local expert botanist, Dr Bob Leaney, who was the former ecological advisor to the Norwich Diocese, we identified a number of areas we thought would respond well to meadow management as opposed to an amenity grass cut. We reviewed the management in early March this year, and decided to take some areas of grassland out of the meadow management scheme, as despite our best efforts, they had already lost too much of their botanical interest and there is nothing to 'bring back'.

Notwithstanding this minor set-back, the remainder of the meadow areas are responding very well to the new management regime. In April 2014, Bob Leaney found around 50 species of grassland plant. Between June 2016 and March 2017, we recorded over 100 species of plant in the grassland areas, and were delighted to find that the numbers of some of the more iconic plant species such as common sorrel, ox-eye daisy and bulbous buttercup had increased substantially and that we also now have small populations of the less common grass species such as sweet vernal-grass and yellow oat-grass. As an added bonus, we think our churchyard is now on track to make the grade necessary for us to get free grassland management through Norfolk Wildlife Trust.

Over 50s' Social Club

The dictionary definition of Senior is Elder or aged person, our club members agreed that this does not portray exactly what our club is all about. We are like a bottle of champagne, fizzy and full of fun!!! So we decided it was time to change our name from Senior Residents Club to the Over 50's Social Club.

We meet every Tuesday 1.45 - 3.45pm in Reedham Village Hall. Some of our members play bingo, and there is a prize for a line and then a prize for a full house. All club members play the Flyer game which is a cash prize for a full house in a certain amount of numbers, if not won it is continued to play for a prize.

The next week the prize money is increased and the numbers called increased by one. Some play cards, but we will try to accommodate any members' requirements.

The members have free refreshments when you can chat and catch up with friends old and hopefully some new ones too. We have lunches, a xmas party and a Christmas lunch. We are having a coach day trip in June to Bury St Edmunds where there is a large shopping centre to explore amongst other things. These are all free to eligible members if subscriptions are paid.

The more members we have the more we can do. We have a large lottery bingo running with good jackpots; this is open to non-members too, just call Angie on 07585504199 if you would like to join, you have to be in it to win it!!

Our club is open to residents of all villages not just Reedham. So if you are looking for a chat, an entertaining afternoon, good company with old friends and make some new friends, and you are over 50, then come and join us, you will be made very welcome. Remember 60 is the new 40!!

Don't be shy, just come along on a Tuesday at 1.45pm, we would love to see you.

Angie - Sec/Treasurer,

Beryl - Chairman and Committee of the Over 50's

Reedham & district WI

At our March meeting our speaker was Julie Porter from "Bags2Love" Julie is an avid recycler and she told us how she got started recycling clothes and showed us items she had converted. She brought items for us to buy and we were amazed at the ideas she had for recycling a facinating evening. Our next month's meeting on Tuesday April 4th @ 7.30pm will be a talk by Mrs Temples cheesemakers from Wighton. Also we hope to have a cake stall on the Riverside on Easter Sunday 16th April 11am til 1pm..pop along and get a cake for tea!! New members are most welcome.

Easter Eve

The Annual service on Easter Eve will take place at Tunstall Church at 7-45pm. This year you are all invited for a drink before the service from 7pm at the home of Nicki and Graham Cann, Tunstall Hall, which is the last house on the right before you reach Tunstall Church.

Reedham Open Garden Day

Have you ever thought about opening your garden for one day? It's not as daunting as you might expect, and people who have done so in the past enjoy it so much that they continue to open each year. Your garden does not have to be huge, people would love to see all your hard work.

Reedham Village Hall would like to hold an Open Garden Day in the village this summer, would you be interested? Please let us know if you would be willing to take part by calling 01493 701107 or email reedhamvillagehall@yahoo.co.uk.

Royal British Legion (Women's Section)

There will be a Social afternoon on 17th April at Reedham Village Hall at 2pm. The competition is 'Easter Bunnies'.

Joint Annual Parochial Church Meeting

This year the parishes of our benefice have agreed to experiment by holding a joint Annual Parochial Church Meeting (during which we report on the life of our churches in 2016 and elect representatives for the next 12 months). This will be held in Reedham Church on Sunday 23rd April, starting at 6.00pm and is open to those on the Church Electoral Roll of any of our parishes. The first hour will be spent together, as we hear from each of the churches about the good things which have been happening and the challenges we face. Then we will break up to deal for the business relating to individual parishes (e.g. accounts and elections). The meeting will end with Compline (Night Prayer) at 8.00pm.

Note that the Meeting of Parishioners for the election of churchwardens will already have been held separately within each parish. If you are not already on the Electoral Roll of your church and wish to join it, contact your Electoral Roll Officer soon – there should be a notice at your church.

Meetings of Parishioners for the Election of Churchwardens

Freethorpe: Following 11am service Sunday 2nd April

Wickhampton: Following 9.30am service on 9th April

Reedham: Following 11am Communion on 9th April.

Mothers' Union

As I wondered what to tell you about Mothers' Union when we are all focusing on the Passion Play, the solemnity of Christ's crucifixion and the triumph of Easter Day, I thought of all that this society has done since its foundation by Mary Sumner in her Rectory home in 1876. Not the least has been the publication of the Quarterly magazine 'Families First' which today is a very topical, recording events at home and worldwide. I found an article about Canon Andrew White who used to be the chaplain of Bagdad but in the devastation there now calls himself the chaplain of refugees, with so many peoples scattered and children surviving with their families trying to protect them, so many not succeeding. He tells of 2,700 members of Mothers' Union who have lost their lives or moved away trying to pick up the pieces elsewhere. I thought of Christians 2,000 years ago, thrown to lions for sport, tied to a post and set alight to act as torches on highways and survivors fleeing and so spreading the gospel all over the Middle East and throughout the world. So today MU members still rejoice at the Victory of Easter Day and celebrate with joy worldwide. May our Easter be very special this year as it surely will be.

Jean Cunnington, Branch Secretary

Reedham Village Show

We confirm that the Show will be on Sunday 20th August. Schedules will be delivered with the Outlook later in the Spring. The class for the baby item for the Special Care Baby Unit will be a hat. A class for a knitted doll's outfit is also included.

Reedham Gardening Club

With the warm sunshine it is worth remembering to water pots, tubs and baskets. Daffodils just need dead-heading, leaving the foliage to die down so feeding the bulbs for next year. Weeds are growing quickly and need pulling out.

Now potatoes are growing they need protection if we get late frosts. Other vegetable seeds can be sown, especially as the Show is fairly early again.

Easter Lilies

We hope you have not forgotten to order your Easter Lilies from Kati Cowen 700915, Brenda Pawsey 01493 700068 or Peter Ledward 01493 700008 or Margaret Allcock 700256, by 1st April – see March Outlook for details. KC

Women's Night Out

The April meeting will be on 5th at Freethorpe Village Hall at 7.30pm, when we will be hearing Ruth Smith speak on 'The Ink Monitor'.

Pancake Party

Many thanks to all who contributed, cooked, came and ate! A total of £344.95, including entry money, raffle and donations was made, which have been donated to the Passion Play expenses. K.C.

Mission Accomplished

Thanks to all who supported the churchyard working party at Halvergate on 4th March. A tremendous amount was achieved. Some of the team →
