The welcome repainting of the interior of Acle, St. Edmund Church (thank you, Rodney Edrich) involved the removal of many items from around the walls, accumulated over the last hundred years: from the photographs of the fallen of the First World War, to the embroidered Acle Churches Together banner, the twin of which hangs in the Methodist Church lounge. The result, as already experienced at Halvergate and Beighton churches, is a much cleaner, brighter, uncluttered space. There may now be an interesting debate about how much of what was removed makes it back onto the walls (before you write in, let me promise that each of the aforementioned items will)!

There was an Anglo-Catholic fashion during the 18th and early 19th centuries to recover a medieval layout by enclosing altars on three side with curtains (“riddels”) – the supporting “riddel posts” remain in place in All Saints, Beighton. These posts were often topped with angels, as are two at Acle; the other pair (which I think were donated by the School in 1922) carry saints Edmund and George. I don’t recall ever seeing a photograph of Acle’s altar enclosed; if it was, the curtains were subsequently moved to span the entire east wall. Ornamentation is intended to enhance; but it can also distract. With the curtains removed, the altar can, as it were, breathe more freely; and the east window is once again fully visible.

Decluttering is something most of face at some point, whether it’s by choice, or forced on us by downsizing. It can be a painful process. Some of these things once had meaning for us – maybe they still do. Mindful of the possibility of developing dementia, some promote the keeping of a memory box: a collection of meaningful items which have the power to trigger memory, symbolising the storehouse of a lifetime’s experience. But a memory box is only a representative collection. The accumulation of “stuff” is a feature of Western consumer society – one that our planet can ill afford. And it’s not necessarily good for us: it is possible to accumulate so much that what is at the centre, what is most important, is no longer clearly visible.

As an itinerant proclaimer of the kingdom of God, Jesus didn’t have any time for clutter. When he told the rich young man to Go, sell your possessions and give to the poor; then come, follow me, that was serious downsizing! More than the man could bear. Yet Jesus was pointing him, at his request, in the direction of inheriting eternal life: finding that which is most essential. Maybe we need to take a lead from those of our fellow creatures which shed their skins or cast their shells in order to grow and move on to the next phase of their existence: get rid of the clutter, physical and spiritual, so that what is essential is more clearly visible; and we can breathe more freely.

Parish Notes

Lent begins on Wed 22nd Feb: services at Acle (10am) and Reedham (7.30pm).

See also 'Encounters with Jesus'.

Regrettably, there won't be a 40 days series from the diocese this year, so Acle Churches Together is having to revise its plans: keep an eye on the weekly notice sheet for details.

World Day of Prayer (formerly Women's WDP) is on Fri 3rd March, using worship material from Taiwan. Services 2.00pm Acle Methodist Church; 2.30pm All Saints, Freethorpe.

St. Edmund's Church, Acle has resumed its collection of empty tablet blister packs for recycling (as long as large quantities are not dropped off in one go.): there is a box in the porch. Well Pharmacies haven't replied to a request to consider a similar scheme.

'Encounters with Jesus'

The Sisters of Bethany will be offering a weekly time of prayer, reflection and hymns during Lent.

As we journey to Jerusalem in preparation for Holy Week and Easter, we will explore some of the encounters that people had with Jesus throughout his ministry.

You are welcome to join us each Thursday, 11am -12pm, from 2nd March to 30th March 2023.

Venue – St Peter & St Paul Church, Tunstall NR13 3PU

The reflections will be made available online by video for anyone who is not able to attend in person.

We look forward to praying together with you.

Sunday 11 December 2022, 4pm.

Ding dong merrily on high, in Wickhampton bells were ringing!

The theme of our carol service was the many functions of bells: alarming, resonating, announcing, exulting and summoning, and a terrific congregation of over 50 adults and children sang their hearts out, accompanied by the organ and the handbell ringers. Festive fayre and hot punch (very welcome!) were shared after the service.

It was wonderful to see so many folks in the church, and a huge thank you to everyone who attended from near and far, and for your support and kind generosity. Thanks also to the handbell ringers, and to everyone who helped decorate the church and provide refreshments.

The Friends of Wickhampton Church.

Wickhampton: Plough Sunday Service – 15 January 2023

The Blessing the Plough Service was held at St Andrew's Church, Wickhampton, on Sunday 15 January 2023 with a congregation of 30, comprising members of the Acle and Bure to Yare Benefice, friends of the church, and visitors from as far afield as Ipswich, for united worship.

This age-old tradition of blessing the plough was reintroduced into the farming community in 2008, and has been held annually on the edge of the Broadland Marshes. The observance of Plough Sunday, on the first Sunday of Epiphany, goes back many ages before Victorian times, and was associated with the first working day after the twelve days of Christmas.

During the singing of "We Plough the Fields and Scatter", the congregation was led out onto the church green by Edward Gilder, who carried the processional cross. Everyone gathered around the 8.5 tonne John Deere tractor with its 5-furrow reversible plough, driven by Alfie Dunthorne from Limpenhoe Hill Farm. After the Blessing ceremony conducted by Reverend Martin Greenland, young Carl Dunthorne brought forward a bag of corn seed for blessing, and prayers were said for farmers, farm workers and farms. The plough then returned to the fields for work, and was sent on its way by Eric and his melodeon, with a rendition of "God speed the plough!". All returned to the church for Holy Communion, followed by very welcome hot drinks!

On Friday 16th December at 2pm in the Bure Room, Acle Social Club, the Acle Branch of the Royal British Legion held a very successful 'Singalong'. The main attraction was Legion member Graham Shepherd* who cleverly compered the event and sang a number of popular songs interspersed with many witticisms and welcomed audience participation. “Your Light Has Come”

After five weeks of intense rehearsals when the weather threw just about everything at us (fog, heavy rain, snow and ice, waterlogged parking), All Saints Church Beighton welcomed the benefice choir on Thursday 22 December together with a packed congregation of almost one hundred people for a service of readings and carols. The Rector drew up the list of readings based on the prophetic writings of Isaiah and related these to Luke’s account of the Nativity. Musical items were chosen to link with these readings all of which made for a slightly unusual but very refreshing pattern of service. The choir gave it their all thanks to the wonderful direction of Michael Nicholas. With Adam Chillingworth on the ‘new’ organ (how good did that sound?) and Tom Carr on trumpet, both extremely talented young musicians, the church was filled to the top of the restored rafters with the sound of music. It was such a thrill to host an evening of live entertainment, the first big event since the restoration and improvement work was finished, and certainly vindicated the decision to remove pews in order to accommodate larger groups of musicians. The evening was rounded off with the renowned Beighton refreshments including mulled wine. Thanks be to God.
